Pininfarina, that contributed to the victory of Daniela Ceccarelli (gold medallist in the SuperG on February 17 2002 at the Winter Olympics at Salt Lake City) by hosting the athlete in the Company's Wind Tunnel for aerodynamic tests of her skiing equipment, was visited by the champion skier on June 10th.

Daniela Ceccarelli came to Pininfarina to collect her 5-door Mitsubishi Pajero Pinin 2000 GDI, a versatile vehicle for use both in and out of town and, more pertinent in this case, for critical or particularly demanding situations in the mountains.

First outing for Daniela Ceccarelli: training on the Stelvio slopes, a trip made with her Mitsubishi Pajero Pinin, built by Pininfarina at its Grugliasco and Bairo plants.
