

Andrea Pininfarina “Chevalier de la Légion d’Honneur”

Tuesday, 6 May 2003

Andrea Pininfarina, CEO of the Pininfarina Group, received the insignia of “Chevalier de la Légion d’Honneur” at a ceremony that took place today in Turin at the residence of the French Consul General. He received the decoration from the hands of the French Ambassador to Italy, Mr. Loic Hennekinne.

This greatest of French honours is of particular significance to the Pininfarina family, since it is an honour shared by three generations of the family, having previously been awarded to the company’s founder, Battista “Pinin” Farina, and its current Chairman, Sergio Pininfarina.
