

Pininfarina awarded for the ideal office

It is called "Luna" (Moon) and it is designed by Pininfarina the collection of office furnishings awarded by the popular jury of the EIMU, the International Office Furniture Exhibition held in April hosted by the Salone Internazionale del Mobile in Milan.

Drawing back the attention on the human being and on the surrounding environment was the main aim of the exhibition, which was dedicated to wellness at work with the Wellness@Work competition organized among 32 companies attending the event.

The popular jury expressed its preference for "Luna" by Uffix, designed by Pininfarina Extra, an executive desking collection, which has been developed with and accessories, meeting tables, and high-tech cabinets utilizing coplanar and sliding doors.
