

Maserati Quattroporte Automatic

Worldwide preview at the Detroit Motor Show of the Trident car designed by Pininfarina

Turin, January 8th 2007. The Maserati Quattroporte Automatic debuts, on Maserati booth, at the Detroit Motor Show, first 2007 novelty for the Trident brand. The Quattroporte Automatic, worldwide preview, preserves the award-winning lines designed by Pininfarina but adds a completely new transmission system that ensures seamless driving comfort.

“With the Quattroporte project, displayed for the first time at the 2003 Frankfurt Motor Show, Pininfarina succeeded to create a car that is at the same time sporty, elegant and clearly Italian, but above all immediately recognisable as a Maserati. I am extremely proud that this new version of the Quattroporte makes its debut in the significant United States market.” declared Andrea Pininfarina, Chairman and CEO Pininfarina S.p.A. “Moreover, I like to remember that in 2005 a further result of the collaboration between Maserati and Pininfarina was the Maserati Birdcage 75th prototype, that met with a new great success at the recent Beijing Motor Show.” concluded Andrea Pininfarina.
